BAD FIRE ON STATE STREET

Home of Dr. Eastman Badly Scorched This Morning

At 8 o'clock this morning the fire department was called to fight a stubborn fire at the residence of Dr. E. B. Eastman on State street.

Before 8:30 had been sounded, the combination wagon had been called by telephone, and was on its way when the general alarm was given. When the department arrived it found the house completely filled with smoke and the fire apparently confined to the cellar and dining room of the dwelling. The blaze was a decidedly hard one to get at, and the firemen were obliged to chase it from one room to another.

It evidently started in the cellar and worked up into the partition between the several rooms and the lower and upper halls. After giving the firemen a lively fight in the basement it broke out in the walls of the lower hallway and much of the woodwork had to be cut away in order to get at the fire.

While the firemen were fighting the flames in the lower part of the building the flames were working up to the top part of the house and every minute it was expected it would break out on the roof.

After nearly an hour of hard work and after the recall had been sounded, it broke out again under the flooring of the upper hallway, and gave the department another lively time.

The building is owned by Mrs. L. E. Scruton of Rochester and is covered by insurance as are also the household effects of Dr. Eastman.

The loss is estimated at $1500.

Ralph, the sixteen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manson, discovered some Paris green while on a tour of exploration about the house in the absence of his parents Monday afternoon, and was so pleased with his find that he immediately devoured a large quantity of it. The condition of Capt. E. C. Nolan of the barge Haverford, who was thrown from a car Saturday evening, continues to improve, though he has not yet returned from the Orman house, to his vessel, which lies in the harbor outward bound.

Sloop Columbia, Capt. Harry Handoff, sailed Monday on a merchandising trip to Block Island and vicinity.

The black painted can buoy on Goat Island ledge, familiarly known as Pull-and-be-damned Point, is missing. Whether it has sunk or dragged out to sea is not known, but at any rate it should be replaced immediately.

Capt. Alfred Estergreen of Philadelphia, master of the barge No. 12 of the Consolidation Coal Company, a recent arrival here, has been looking up old acquaintances here. Five years ago at the time of the great coal strike, he was mate of the schooner Alice M. Colburn, which was laid up here over four months.

Schooner J. V. Wellington, with coal from Port Johnson for Danvers, which has been wind-bound here nearly two weeks, met a fresh easterly breeze outside this morning and again returned to port. However, Capt. Lawson owns every timber head of the vessel himself and doesn't have to hurry.

Schooner Alice M. Colburn has sailed from Newport News with coal for this port.

BEN WHITNEY SENT UP FOR FIFTEEN YEARS

The Way of the Transgressor is Hard in This Man's Case

Portland, Me., May 25.—John F. Day, who is alleged to be Ben Whitney, the alleged horse thief and jail breaker, who has been wanted by the New Hampshire officers for five years, was sentenced to fifteen years in state prison at Thomaston, Maine, by Judge Turner, in the superior court of Cumberland county on Monday.

Day, alias Whitney, has a long criminal record. In 1894 he was committed to jail at Alfred, and after his release he enlisted in the navy, from which he deserted, and was arrested and served a year in the naval prison at Charlestown, Mass. In 1904 he was arrested for breaking into cottages at York Beach and harbor, was sent to jail at Alfred, from which he escaped by sawing the bars in a window of the workshop.

He has been arrested in Auburn, Me.; Ipswich, Mass.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Falmouth, Foreside, Brunswick, Portland, Me.; Hamilton, Mass.; is accused of breaks in Hampton, Newington and Greenland, N. H.; Cumberland Foreside and Dunstan, Me.; Beverly, East Wenham and Rockport, Mass. He escaped from Portsmouth, N. H. jail. He is credited with "several breaks for which he has not been indicted," in Rockingham county, N. H.

At the time for sentencing, Whitney addressed the court in his own behalf and claimed that he was not near as bad a man as everybody seems to think. He said that he had read the accounts in the papers of the terrible things that had been laid at his door, but said that very few of them were true. He acknowledged the thefts in this locality, but said that it was through necessity when he hadn't had anything to eat for three days. He said that he broke jail at Alfred, because he had been put in the "dog hole" with a man that had hydrophobia and he couldn't stand the treatment he received there. Since then he had been penniless and had been knocking around from pillar to post without a place to sleep nor anything to eat.

"I never had much chance in life," he told the court, "and I want a chance to square my name."

Judge Turner imposed the sentence of 15 years on the indictment for being a common thief and on a case brought forward from the special docket for breaking and entering and larceny, five years, making 15 years in state prison.

He was not tried, having pleaded guilty.

CASTRO IS ILL

FOR POOR MISSIONS

Paris, May 25.—There seems little doubt that Cipriano Castro, the ex-dictator of Venezuela, is seriously if not hopelessly ill.

The American correspondent learns that this condition is not the sequency of the disease for treatment of which he came to Europe, but is due to the fact that he is a confirmed victim of the morphine habit. He has been taking the drug for the last few years in moderate quantities, but the habit has grown to such an extent that he is completely under its ruinous sway.

A physician who examined him in Paris confirms this report, and it is believed that Castro is under the shadow of the shadow of paresis. Really Venezuela need not fear its former president, for medical opinion is that he will never again be able to take part in public affairs.

Castro is now at Santander, Spain, with his devoted wife, but has been deserted by all his former adherents. About the only man to remain faithful to the fallen despot is Senor Hahn, his confidential agent, and, recently the Venezuelan Consul at Genoa.

Rev. George Albert Guertin, bishop of Manchester, has directed that an offering be made in all parishes of the state on Sunday next. Letters to the parish priests of the diocese were read relative to it on Sunday last.

French's "Hurry Up Sale" winds up the month. Be ready to hurry on Thursday morn.

SIX ARE GUILTY OF CONTEMPT

Tennessee Men Offended
Highest Court In the Land

MUST PAY THE PENALTY

Practically First Time That Supreme Court Has Undertaken to Resent Acts or Words Reflecting Upon It—Sheriff, Deputy and Others Failed to Protect Negro Who Had Been Granted an Appeal

Washington, May 25.—Contempt of the supreme court of the United States will be punished by that highest court. It will be the first time that the most august tribunal in the land has undertaken to mete out a penalty for so serious an offense. Moreover, the importance of the occasion will be enhanced by the number of defendants.

The proceedings will take place in the cases of Sheriff Shipp and Deputy Sheriff Gibson of Hamilton county, Tenn., and four other residents of that county, named respectively Williams, Nolan, Padgett and May. These men were declared by the court yesterday to be guilty of an act of contempt in joining in 1905 in a conspiracy to lynch a negro named Johnson, who had been sentenced to death by the local courts, on the charge of rape, and in whose case the supreme court had interfered to the extent of granting an appeal which had the effect of a supersedeas.

On the night after the announcement of the court's action, Johnson was taken out of the jail in Chattanooga by a mob and lynched. There was no resistance by the jail authorities and Shipp and a number of his deputies, as well as about twenty citizens, were proceeded against on the charge of contempt of the federal court.

The case has been pending ever since, and the number of defendants was gradually reduced to nine. Of these nine three were found guilty yesterday while the other six were ordered to be brought into court for sentence. They will be taken into custody immediately and will appear in court in charge of Marshal Wright. The sentence may be either fine or imprisonment or both.

The case is regarded as of exceptional interest, because it is practically the first time that the court has ever undertaken to assert its dignity or to resent acts or words reflecting upon it. In one previous case, some years ago, a defendant was fined for some expression of contempt, but the case was so comparatively insignificant as virtually to leave the present proceeding standing alone.

In the cases of Shipp and Gibson, the court in effect declares that there may be contempt in a failure by officers of the law to prevent a crime in contempt of the court, and, taking cognizance of an offense at so great a distance, the court for the first time asserts by its action its right to compel the proper respect for and treatment of its orders in all parts of the union.

*AUTO TURNED TURTLE

Two Men Badly Hurt When Machine Landed in a Ditch

Palmer, Mass., May 25.—Edward P. Blake of Boston, New England agent for an automobile company, and his chauffeur, Howard McArthur, also of that city, received serious, but probably not fatal, injuries, when their automobile turned turtle on the state road, two miles west of here. The men were on their way to New Haven to participate in a hill climbing contest there.

The accident happened while the automobile was negotiating an "S" curve. A forward tire came off and the machine finally landed in a ditch, wheels upmost, with the two occupants beneath. Another automobile, in which was a doctor, came along soon after and rescued the men.

Attempts Suicide In Court
Boston, May 25.—George Steele, arraigned in the municipal court on a charge of larceny, startled the crowded courtroom by attempting suicide in the prisoners' dock. Had not Court Officer Abbott leaped to the side of the prisoner, he might have succeeded. As it was, the jack-knife with which he was sawing at his throat was wrested from him only after he had inflicted several jagged cuts in the side of his neck near the jugular vein.

Young Banks a Suicide

PITTSBURG GRAFT CASES

Additional Evidence Expected to Yield Some Great Surprises

Pittsburg, May 25.—That greater surprises than have yet occurred in the councilmanic graft exposures will result from the investigations begun by the grand jury Monday is the belief of persons in close touch with the case.

For several weeks those connected with the prosecution have been quietly working on additional evidence, which it is expected will be brought out by the grand jury now sitting.

No arrests have been made of men charged by the wife of Councilman Klein with conspiracy in making charges against her husband, who was convicted of conspiracy and bribery, although it is alleged by counsel for Klein that the men for whom warrants were issued have been rubbing elbows with the constables in the courthouse.

IN THE FOURTH ROUND

Langford Puts an End to What Was Expected to Be Long Contest

London, May 25.—Sam Langford, the negro heavyweight of Boston, knocked out Ian Hague, the heavyweight champion of England, in the fourth round here last night. The fight, which was for a purse of $5000, was scheduled to go twenty rounds.

Langford was at a disadvantage as regards weight, height and reach, but his superior knowledge of ring tactics and his quickness overcame this, and what was expected to be a long contest proved to be a very brief one.

There was some dispute when the men came into the ring over the bandages on Hague's hands, but Langford's objections were speedily overcome and the Yorkshireman was allowed to wear them.

LIKE A GIGANTIC "NAKED EYE" COMET

Eastern Sky Produces an Unusual Phenomenon

Geneva, N. Y., May 25.—An unusual astronomical phenomenon was observed at the Smith observatory here by Dr. William R. Brooks, professor of astronomy at Hobart college. In reporting his observations he says:

"The object was visible in the eastern sky from 2 to 3 o'clock in the morning. It had the appearance of a gigantic 'naked eye' comet, with a large head and a tail of enormous proportions.

"When first seen, the head was in the great square of Pegasus and tail stretching upward toward the North Star. The motion was rapidly eastward. At 2:30 the head enveloped the star Algenib and by 3 o'clock it had reached the horizon. Soon after the tail was lost in the rapidly advancing dawn."

Professor Brooks thinks that the phenomenon may not have been a comet, but merely an unusual manifestation of the Aurora Borealis. No other auroral effect was visible, however. If the object was a comet, it must have been very close to the earth.

READER OF DIME NOVELS

Boy of Fourteen Thought to Have Attempted Train Wrecking

Cambridge, Mass., May 25.—After journeying as far as Meriden, Conn., on his way to the far west, Frank Rice, aged 14, returned to his home here last night and was at once taken into police custody and locked up in Somerville on the charge of attempted train wrecking.

Rice said that for two days he had had nothing to eat, so he came back. He disappeared after several attempts were made last Friday night to wreck trains here by putting sleepers on the tracks. The police say Rice has been reading dime novels.

Another boy, Kenneth Foster, is also in custody, and the Somerville and Cambridge police expect to make a third arrest soon.

Washington, May 25.—President Taft has sent back to the war department the estimates submitted to him for the support of the military establishment during the fiscal year 1911, and indicated his desire that they should be cut approximately $36,000,000.

Army officers say the reduction in estimates, if persisted in by the president, means practically no construction work for the army during 1911.

His Exceptions Overruled

WIFE BREAKS THE NEWS

Leaves Prison in Nearly Hysterical Condition, While Husband Receives Ill Tidings Very Stoically—Former Financier Employed in Knitting Mill and Enjoying Better Health Than When Incarcerated

Boston, May 25.—Cardenio F. King, the one-time financier, promoter, stock broker and publisher, must serve his full sentence of from ten to fourteen years at hard labor in state prison.

CARDENIO F. KING.

By a decision of the full bench of the supreme court, handed down yesterday, all the exceptions taken by his counsel at the time of King's trial are overruled and the former newspaper reporter, whose meteoric career in the world of finance astonished the country, now stands convicted of larceny from those who answered his glowing advertisements, without possible hope of legal recourse except for an executive pardon.

Mrs. King went to the prison to break the news to her husband. The interview in the presence of a prison official was an affecting one, but King took the tidings very stoically. Mrs. King lost her composure entirely before taking her leave for another month, when the prison rules allow her another visit of one hour.

Warden Bridges talked for a few minutes with Mrs. King before she left in a nearly hysterical condition.

Since his incarceration began last winter King has enjoyed very good health and the prison officials say that he is today in even better condition than when he entered the institution. Each morning immediately after breakfast he marches with a squad to the knitting mill and spends the day in operating a hosiery machine.

FAILED TO PRODUCE RECORD OF NOISE

Phonograph Helps Friends of Sunday Baseball Playing

New York, May 25.—A phonograph helped the Jersey City club of the Eastern league to win a victory for Sunday baseball in the chancery court here.

A resident near the ball grounds sought to have Sunday games prohibited as a nuisance, but a phonograph operator testified that he tried at the plaintiff's house to make a record of the noise alleged to have accompanied the games and that the machine failed to record any noise whatever.

Vice Chancellor Stevenson held that Sunday ball playing was illegal, but that its suppression lay with the police rather than with the chancery court.

THE ROGERS ESTATE

It Is Said to Amount to Over $100,000,000 Free and Clear

Boston, May 25.—The Post says: Henry H. Rogers left over $100,000,000 behind him. This is the estimate of one of his closest friends and business acquaintances. This intimate of the late Standard Oil manager was acquainted, through conversations with Rogers, with the size of the fortune. The estate is free and clear.

The discovery by the world at large that Rogers was a $100,000,000 man, and not, as had been supposed, a $50,000,000 man with his money tied up in the Virginia railway indefinitely, will come as an astonishing surprise to those who have followed his career from the outside.

WAGE SCALE NOT REDUCED

Good News For Mill Operators of Fall River

MILL MEN WAIVE RIGHT

Action Had Been Forecasted in Rumors but Does Not Detract From Genuine Rejoicing—Could Have Ordered Reduction of Five Percent Under Sliding Scale Agreement Had They Been So Disposed

Fall River, Mass., May 25.—The present rate of wages in the Fall River print cloth mills will be continued during the next six months, the manufacturers having waived their right under the sliding scale agreement to make a cutdown of about 5 percent.

The announcement of this decision on the part of the manufacturers was given out last night at the close of a conference between the executive committee of the manufacturers and the textile council, representing the labor unions.

"Voted to continue the present scale of wages, waiving the right to reduce," was the concise statement handed to newspapermen by the secretary when the conference, which was very brief, was ended.

Neither union leaders or manufacturers cared to add anything to the statement, but among the rank and file of the 25,000 workers involved there was much elation when the news became known. While the action of the manufacturers did not come as a surprise, it was, nevertheless, the cause of genuine rejoicing all over the city.

Last November similar action was taken by the mill owners when they waived their right to enforce a cut of about 8 percent, which would have been warranted under the automatic action of the sliding scale agreement, based on the margin between the cost of spot cotton and the selling price of a yard of standard print cloth.

The exact amount of the reduction that could have been ordered at the present time under the agreement has not been announced officially, but it has been variously figured at from 4 to 8 percent. It is believed that 5 percent is the correct figure.

The conference last night fixed the rate for the next six months beginning June 1, at which time the cutdown would have taken effect had one been ordered.

CONFESSES TO MURDER

Alleged Crook Says Man He Killed Was a Notorious Criminal

Baltimore, May 25.—Milton Beaumont of this city, known to the police as "Philadelphia Slim," has confessed to the police that he killed the man whose body, with the throat cut and features mutilated, was found in the woods in a suburb of Baltimore.

His victim, Beaumont says, was Bob Rogers, a notorious criminal. Beaumont declares that Rogers had a grudge against him and during a quarrel attacked him with a razor. Beaumont finally got the weapon, he says, and slashed Rogers about the face and cut his throat.

Beaumont afterwards applied at the Canton police station for a night's lodging and his actions aroused the suspicions of the police.

New York, May 25.—Organization of the fourth anti-Tammany movement launched within a month was perfected last night under the name of the Municipal Democracy. Officers were elected and plans discussed to combat Tammany at the municipal elections next fall. An out-door meeting will be held on June 2.

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, declines to discuss the various reform organizations.

DOVER OPPOSED TAFT

Otherwise He Might Have Landed a Job at $12,000 a Year

Washington, May 25.—Elmer Jover, former secretary of the Republican national committee, whose appointment as national bank examiner at New York has been held up by the controller of the currency, will be offered a similar post in some other district, it is said.

When it was announced that Jover would receive the appointment at New York a number of protests were made to the president to the effect that a position paying $12,000 a year was too high a reward for Jover, who, it was asserted, was opposed to Taft's nomination up to the very last moment and was replaced on the national committee because of this antagonistic attitude toward the candidate.

President Taft had agreed to the appointment as a favor to some of Jover's friends, but he was somewhat taken aback by the facts, when ascertained, as to the emoluments of the national bank examinership at New York.

GEORGIA RAILROAD STRIKE

Commissioner Neill Will Endeavor to Bring About a Settlement

Atlanta, May 25.—Hope of settlement of the strike of firemen on the Georgia railroad centers on the visit today of Commissioner of Labor Neill, who is coming from Washington.

Governor Smith proposes arbitration by a commission of Georgians. The firemen accepted, but the railroad did not. Manager Scott of the Georgia railroad will be present today to confer with Neill.

The danger that the strike may spread to other railroads became serious when Vice President Hall of the firemen's union said that diversion of the Georgia railroad's freight business to other roads would cause the firemen of those roads to vote on whether they would accept diverted freight.

No effort is being made to run trains. The strikers also are in a waiting attitude and are not resorting to violence.

DESERTED SWAMP POOL MYSTERY

Probable Murder of Months Ago Is Just Revealed

Hooksett, N. H., May 25.—A bullet wound in the right temple and a hole or depression on the left of the skull, made apparently by a blow from a blunt instrument, were disclosed by the autopsy on the body of a man found in Hinman's pond. The body was weighted with a heavy piece of granite. At the other end the rope was wound half a dozen times about the man's body at the waist.

The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition and had evidently been in the water for months. It was that of a man six feet tall, who probably weighed 200 pounds and was perhaps 60 years old. His clothing was black and of good texture. In the pockets were a Boston and Maine rebate check dated Oct. 1, 1908, the punches showing that it was used between Manchester and Hooksett, and 63 cents.

Hinman's pond is a deserted swamp pool rarely visited.

Georgia Negro Lynched

TUESDAY, MAY 25, 1909.

GOOD-BYE, MR. SILVER

Portsmouth has good reason to regret the departure of Mr. Ernest L. Silver from the superintendency of the city schools, which he has filled so capably.

He faced no easy task when he came to this city. His immediate predecessor had done work of such quality as to gain promotion to the state superintendency. It is no disparagement to Mr. Morrison to relate the fact that there has been no retrogression during the five years of Mr. Silver's administration. The school work was taken up by the new man in 1904 with the idea of developing what was on hand instead of trying to throw away the previous work and build some thing entirely new. This has been better for the scholars and also for the taxpayers, while Mr. Silver leaves the city with a better record for constructive work than would have been the case had he tried to win a sudden fame as an innovator.

At Derry, he has a rare opportunity to win a notable reputation as the head of a secondary school. There is a good foundation for constructive work and the same methods which have been so successful here are admirably adapted to the situation there.

While regretting his departure from Portsmouth, we assure him of the feeling of good will and of hearty congratulations on his new and congenial opportunity for work and service.

Celestino Castro, brother of the deceased president of Venezuela, has been served with notice of expulsion from Curacao. He must leave before May 27.

To a committee of the United States Civil Service Retirement Association, which called upon him to outline his interest in some plan for taking care of superannuated employees of the government, President Taft declared that he was heartily in favor of any project that could be devised, or strongly in favor, said the president of the merit system of appointment to all government positions. It will be my duty, he said, to maintain a system adopted by the federal government. A necessary element of that system, however, is a federal retirement plan—a provision for those who have become too old to render proper service to the government.

The Manchester local branch of the painters and paper hangers has served notice on the master painters of the city that on and after June 1, no painter would demand a night hour day at the wages which prevailed for a nine hour day. The union is to send a delegation to the mayor and ask that

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

The Maine Referendum

Long has it been said that it makes a big difference whose ox is gored and the action of the Portland city council to start referendum petitions upon the law known as the Portland bridge bill and the local approval of that course by the Portland Express shows that the old saying is as true now as it ever was.

During the last days of the legislature the act was passed, amended as follows:

"All railroads tracks crossing the county way which forms the approach to said Portland bridge are hereby declared to be legal, and such approach and all public ways extended from York street to said Portland bridge shall be and the same are hereby declared to be discontinued when and as soon as said bridge is built and opened to travel. The overhead bridge extended from the foot of Clark street to said Portland bridge shall be removed at the expense of the city of Portland when and as soon as the same can conveniently be done after said Portland bridge is built."

This amendment is one of the legislative jokers which got into the statutes during the unseemly rush of business the last days of every legislative session and in this particular case the city of Portland will be a heavy loser unless something is done to prevent the law from going into effect. The only remedy open to the city of Portland is the popular referendum.

The question is purely local, similar to the York division case. The Express has argued long and persistently against invoking the state wide referendum upon local matters. But now it finds that the Portland ox has got a hooking as well as the York thoroughbred. Hence it loses sight of that rare and consistent jewel of consistency, endorses the plea of Mr. E. C. Jordan for the use of the statewide referendum, and asks the city council to take action to set in motion the circulating of petitions. This change of base on the part of the Express from the anti-referendum to the pro-referendum must be a satisfying morsel to the aggrieved citizens of York. Their activity to get the division law to the ballot box has been ridiculed by the Express.

We favor the referendum for York. We favor the referendum for Portland. Neither should town or city ever be forced to suffer a deprivation of rights or property at the hands of the state legislature. In the referendum both town and city has the constitutional right to appeal from what is considered as vicious state legislation. We are glad that the Express has found a thistle in its own bed and that there is a way open by which the thorns can be eliminated.

Now for some good advice to our Portland contemporaries: Do not any more ridicule the wholesome efforts of the initiative and referendum. Those two constitutional provisions are very efficient fire escapes to be used in times of danger. Portland is threatened as well as York. If a scorching fire is near and the heat is felt as it is being felt, use the appliance afforded and acknowledge that it is at hand to be used when needed. Encourage York as well as Portland. There is no danger of injustice at the hands of the electorate.—Waterville Sentinel.

The State Auditor

Of the new official position created by the legislature in 1900, that of state auditor, was the most important in several respects. The establishment of such a state office has been urged with enthusiasm but the movement has hitherto failed because of a fear that it would turn out to be merely a sinecure for some fellow legislator good politician rather than filled by an auditor who would audit. The situation at state affairs has been somewhat anomalous here, the state treasury having in practice, really served as both auditor and treasurer, although the responsibility for the former duty has been technically with the governor and council. It is not good logic that the same person should pass upon the validity and accuracy of charges against the state, and pay the same. It is plain that by such a system, there is not a perfect check or safeguard. And yet there has been no complaint that it has not worked economically with the present state treasurer, as far as he was clothed with authority.

The state auditor has been given more power, however, and it has been confidently claimed by the advocates of the new office that under it, savings would be made to the state treasury to equal the expense

A TIMELY TOPIC

BY
 REV. FATHER FOLEY
 Cathedral of Holy Cross, Boston

Honoring
 Your Parents

Do what you can for your fathers and mothers, young men. Give them some of your money. You pay them board, perhaps. But you would pay board somewhere else if you lived somewhere else. Is your father or your mother no more to you than a hotel or a boarding house keeper?

How many of you, my dear young men, ever think of making a companion of your father or your mother? How many of you ever think to take father or mother to some place of amusement with you, to ask them to go to walk with you, in the summer to take them to the seashore or into the country? Remember that the greater part of their lives lie behind them, that only a little way ahead lies the inevitable grave. Try to make them happy.

I want to remind you of your duty to your father and mother. I believe if there is one duty in which you are apt to fail it is that to your parents. You are under grave obligations to them. When you were a baby and not able to care for yourself they provided for your wants, they watched over you, cared for you, provided for your needs.

There are many places your mother wanted to go, many things she wanted to do, but she could not because she had you to take care of. Until you were 18 or 20, perhaps older, and earned your own living, the toil of your father, the sweat of his brow, provided you the necessities of life. When you were sick your mother watched over you by day and by night with no thought of herself. Your father and mother thought only of you, and if the sacrifice of their lives would have saved you they would have made the sacrifice and been glad to do it.

Why is it, then, that Almighty God commands you to honor your father and your mother? First, it is for their happiness. Certainly all they have done for you for so many years, their labors, their sacrifice, their self-denials, deserves some return. But it is not merely for their happiness; it is for your own also.

of the new office several times over, provided the right man was put in the position.

To inaugurate the work as to which it is conceded so much depends upon the man, it would seem that the governor and council have made a wise selection. Judge Fellows has shown himself a man capable of making searching inquiry and with courage and independence to stand by the logical conclusions at which he arrives. He has a good knowledge of law, is familiar with figures and has had a breadth of experience which has equipped him with a good fund of general information. Much in the way of results will be looked for from his administration of the office, and if anyone could vindicate the action of the legislature in creating this additional official position, Judge Fellows ought to be capable of doing it.—Manchester Union.

The Militia Encampment

Equally gratifying is the text of the "camp order," issued recently by Adjutant General Cilley of the New Hampshire National Guard, and the comments which are made upon it by press, public and the guardsmen. As we read the order it means a week of real work for the one regiment of infantry, the troop of cavalry, battery of artillery and hospital corps, which now constitute our force of state militia proper; the companies of coast artillery which complete the organization being closer to the national than to the state organization through their service in government forts and as a certain cog in the great machine of coast defense.

"Camp week" in Concord has been in the past a social event of pleasurable importance which the capital city well appreciated. But as a source of profit to the state militia its utility has not been commensurate with its cost. This weakness was shown when out state troops went to Pine Plains last summer to take part in joint manoeuvres. It has been realized by those in authority and by the men themselves and at last steps have been taken to provide a remedy.

Governor Quinby took the bull by the horns when he issued the order reducing the force from its former pretentious dimensions to those better adapted to the resources and needs of the state. This good beginning is now consistently followed by a further elimination of the gold lace, afternoon tea variety of military training and the substitution for it, if we read the order correctly, of hard work and a lot of it on strictly practical and common sense lines.

A National Guard conducted on this plan will meet the approval of the state, which will not begrudge the appropriations necessary for its support on broad and efficient lines supplementing and carrying out in all details the requirements and provisions of the national law—Concord Monitor.

STATE COLLEGE

The New Hampshire College baseball team left Durham on Monday afternoon on the 5.5 train east for a three days' tour of the Maine colleges. The team stars in Portland over night and in the morning leaves for Orono, where they meet the University of Maine nine. On Wednesday they are scheduled to play Bates at Lewiston. The team showed excellent form in the game Saturday with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Reserve, and the fans at New Hampshire look for a good showing on the trip. The following men make up the squad on the trip: Capt. C. D. Kennedy, E. H. Burroughs, M. D. Merrill, W. W. Burroughs, R. A. Neal, E. M. Stevens, C. W. Kemp, F. Kennedy, E. E. Stark and W. W. Brown.

Coach Bernard J. McGraw closed his services at New Hampshire last week. He is to captain the Dornier nine this summer and will cover the first sack. Mr. McGraw acquired an excellent reputation as a baseball man while at New Hampshire.

The New Hampshire College branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held its regular meeting at Conant hall Monday evening. Chester S. Wendell entertained the institute with a pleasing and instructive lecture on "The Design and Construction of a High Tension Testing Transformer." The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides, showing the construction of the entire mechanism of the transformer.

The annual government inspection of the New Hampshire college battalion of cadets will be held Friday.

AT DARTMOUTH

It was announced on Monday night by the athletic council that Dartmouth athletic teams, beginning next fall, will be without the services of any freshmen who may be of varsity caliber. This action by the council has been under consideration for some time, and comes as no surprise to the college and athletic world.

The task of developing material through the medium of well coached freshmen teams will receive serious consideration hereafter at Dartmouth. Next fall the football coaches will be up against a hard proposition in developing two men who can capably fill the positions of center and guard, left vacant by the loss of Brusse and Bankart.

The rule as passed by the council was generally well received by the students.

OIL DEPOSITS FOR NAVY

System Will Be Devised to Supply New Fuel to Warships

Washington, May 25.—The navy department is making an investigation to devise a system for purchase and storage of fuel oil, which will probably be used extensively in the navy. The new battleships and other war craft to be built from now on will be equipped so that oil may be used for fuel, with provision for coal, if oil is not available.

There is but small chance that any ship will for many years be equipped for the exclusive use of oil, as a vessel so equipped cannot be sent on a long cruise. Oil cannot be purchased everywhere. The two congresses authorized by the last congress will use oil for fuel to some extent, as will the new torpedo boats.

BOLD

SECRETARY MEYER COMPLIMENTS LIEUT. COMMANDER HUSSEY AND CHIEF BOATSWAIN'S MATE BISHOP.

Lieut. Commander Hussey and Chief Boatswain's Mate T. C. Bishop of the battleship New Hampshire have been highly complimented by Secretary of the Navy Meyer for their gallant work in rescuing Seaman C. Kohn of the same ship from drowning.

Seaman Kohn, while the ship was off Cape Cruz on April 21, was engaged in cleaning when the line holding him slipped and he fell overboard. In falling he struck first a life preserver and then bounded off the No. 11 eight-inch turret gun and went into the water stunned.

Lieut. Commander Hussey was in his cabin when he saw the body of the seaman shoot down past the port hole into the water. Without a minutes' hesitation he plunged through the port hole after him and struck the water almost as soon as Kohn. Chief Boatswain Bishop was on the bridge and as soon as he saw Kohn strike the water he jumped overboard from the bridge and together with Lieut. Hussey they got Kohn back to the ship and he was hauled aboard.

It was quick work on the part of both and it resulted in the saving of a life, for Kohn was partly stunned by the fall and would have sunk in a short time.

The letter complimenting the two men was read at quarters aboard ship on Sunday.

ENTERTAINED OLIVET COUNCIL OF EXETER

Davenport Council Work Three Degrees on Large Class

The Olivet Council, Royal and Select Masters of Exeter were the guests of Davenport Council, Royal and Select Masters on Monday evening at one of the largest and most interesting gatherings of the council this year.

A special assembly of the Davenport Council was called at six o'clock and the Royal Master degree was conferred in full form.

The officers and companions of the Olivet Council of Exeter arrived at seven o'clock on a special car and after being welcomed to Davenport Council by Thrice Illustrious Master Frank P. Foggate, which was responded to by Thrice Illustrious Master Rice D. Burpee of Olivet Council in a few well chosen remarks.

The Olivet Council officers then took the chairs and conferred in full form the Select Master degree, after which the Davenport Council took the chairs and conferred in full form the Super Excellent degree on a large class of candidates. The work of both councils was excellent and in fact undoubtedly the best ever seen in this city. The Davenport Council in the last degree were assisted by the Olivet Council band. Prescott Chase leader.

Following the work adjournment was taken to the banquet hall, where Rowe and Voudy had one of their famous banquets ready and the following menu was served in their usual good style:

Lobster Salad.	Cold Tongue.
Cold Ham.	Cold Potatoes.
Hot Mashed Potatoes.	Pickles.
Olives.	Salad.
Harlequin Ice Cream.	Coffee.
Assorted Cake.	Cigars.

The Exeter Council left at 10:40 for their home in the special car, much pleased with their visit.

BADLY BURNED BY EXPLOSION OF LAMP

Isaac F. Cummings Victim of Serious Accident at His Home

Isaac F. Cummings, residing at 44 State street, was badly burned about the face and hands, last evening, by the explosion of a lamp. The house was also somewhat damaged before the fire was extinguished.

Mr. Cummings was in the pantry shortly after eight o'clock and had a lamp on the floor while he was engaged in some work. Without any warning the lamp exploded and the burning oil struck Mr. Cummings on the head and face and burned him severely. In checking the flame he burned his hands.

The flames spread to the woodwork and for a time a nasty fire was threatened and a still alarm was sent in for the chemical and it is due to its quick response and effective work that the fire was prevented from spreading. The damage to the pantry is large. Mr. Cummings was given medical treatment and his injuries, while painful, are not serious.

ENLARGING MILLS

Newburyport, May 25.—Two additions to the present plant of the Warner cotton mills are in progress, which will mean at the same time some improvements in the way of manufacture.

The picker house in rear of the mill toward Salem street is to be utilized for carding and is to be connected with the main building. This addition, comprising the extension of three floors of 22 feet each, will add 2300 square feet.

The old gas house on Water street is likewise to be utilized and also connected with the mill, adding 3000 square feet. This building will be filled with new up to date machinery for making combed yarns, a better class of yarns than ever before made in Newburyport.

The entire carding department is to be rearranged, so that in the end better work can be done at a less cost.

Jerre B. Lunt has the contract for doing the work.

MASS FOR NATION'S DEAD

The seventh annual memorial military field mass in honor of the dead of the army, navy and marine corps of the United States was celebrated on Sunday in the presence of a throng estimated at 30,000 on the parade grounds in front of the marine barracks at the New York navy yard, Brooklyn. About 10,000 uniformed men participated in the ceremonies, among them 4000 of the Knights of Columbus.

The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Father Eugene M. McDonald, U. S. N., chaplain of the receiving ship Hancock, his assistants being Rev. Father John P. Chidwick, chaplain of the old battleship Maine when she was blown up in Havana harbor, who acted as deacon; Rev. Father M. C. Gleason, chaplain of the battleship Connecticut, flagship of the Atlantic fleet, who was sub-deacon, and Rev. Dr. John F. Nash of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Brooklyn, who was master of ceremonies. The sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. John L. Delfort, drawn up near the altar during the mass were detachments of sailors from the battleships Rhode Island, Connecticut, Nebraska, Ohio, and Alabama, and soldiers from the various army posts and fortifications in and near New York.

THE FISHERIES' DISPUTE

Century Old Case to Go Before a Court of Arbitration

Washington, May 25.—The secretary of state is informed that the court of arbitration to decide the questions at issue between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the north-eastern fisheries will begin its sessions at The Hague in September next. The members of the court are Dr. Lammasch, professor of international law at the University of Vienna, president; Dr. Drago of the Argentine republic, author of the Drago doctrine; Dr. Lehman of the Netherlands, Judge George Gray of the United States circuit court and Chief Justice Fitzpatrick of Canada.

A special agreement was signed on January 27, 1909, by the United States and Great Britain submitting to arbitration at The Hague the controversy as to the North Atlantic coast (or northeastern) fisheries. In 1818 the United States and Great Britain made a treaty, by which certain rights of fishery in common with British fishermen, which had been claimed by the United States for its people under the treaty of peace of 1783, were recognized by Great Britain, while others were renounced by the United States. By this renunciation American fishing vessels were not allowed to take, dry or cure fish "within three marine miles of the coast, bays, harbors and creeks" of the British possessions except certain specified coasts and except in certain cases of emergency. Some twenty-five years after the treaty was signed the colonial governments declared that the word "bays" used in the treaty meant any bay so named on the maps, irrespective of its width, and some American vessels were seized at distances greater than three miles from land.

The United States denied this interpretation of the treaty provisions, asserting that only inlets of the sea, not over six miles wide, were intended. From that time forward the interpretation has been in dispute. At a much later period the Newfoundland government adopted regulations as to the coast fisheries of that island, which American fishermen have the right to certain places to participate in "in common" with British fishermen. Certain of these regulations were thought to be directed against Americans and also to discriminate in favor of the local fishermen. The United States protested against this action as being a limitation of the rights of their people, which, being unqualified and perpetual could not be so restricted, except by mutual agreement of the two governments. Other questions of a minor character, all growing out of the meaning placed upon the language of the treaty, are involved.

It will be a matter for congratulation to both countries when this controversy which has been the fruitful source of irritation and of a voluminous diplomatic correspondence for over sixty years, is at last laid to rest, as it will be by the award of the tribunal of The Hague which will meet next fall to hear and determine the true meaning and intent of the fisheries article of the treaty of 1818.

Naptha Launches on the River

Academy Ball Players Feel Better

Exeter, May 25.—Open cars were run over the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury line to Hampton on Monday for the first time this year.

Albert S. Wetherell, Jr., and Charles Lamson have launched their naphtha launch on the Swamscott river. There will be quite a few of these pleasure craft again on the stream, as in past years, and also some new ones are expected to be launched soon. Dr. W. H. Nute has had his launch greatly improved by various additions and fixtures. Frank Peavey has sold his boat to Alfred Conner of Newfields.

Sunday afternoon Lillian A. Shea, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Shea, died at the home on Cottage street after a long illness.

Monday evening, the May meeting of the First parish men's club held its regular meeting. A musical program had been arranged and was carried out most interestingly. A large attendance was present and refreshments were served.

A special meeting of the Renaissance club was held on Monday evening, with Dr. F. A. Ball.

Llewellyn F. Hobbs is visiting this week at Franconia, where he is one of the stockholders of the Forrest Hills Cottage company.

The condition of Robert Dunn of Lewiston, Me., who was hit by a train Saturday night and taken to the Cottage hospital, is somewhat improved.

The production of "The Irish Justice" will be presented on Wednesday evening at the Stratham town hall. It is a musical entertainment, and will be rendered by the men of the town.

The baseball team at the academy has begun on the final two weeks of preparation for the Andover game. The chances for a victory have taken a rise since the showing made last Saturday against the Pennsylvania freshmen. Only two more games are on the preliminary schedule and possibly only one, the game with Harvard Wednesday, will not be played if that college has to play Princeton a deciding game. The other game will be played with Dean academy on Saturday. The Andover game will be played on the new Plympton playing ground, where the diamond is one of the best grass diamonds in the country. Today a force of workmen began placing the stands for the accommodation of the crowd at the contest. The long stand beside the running track is being turned about, and the others will be taken from the old campus. Coach George S. Connors of the track team is satisfied with the showing of the team in New Haven Saturday, when it won second place in the Yale interscholastic meet. The weather was cold and the track heavy, which accounts for some of the slow time, especially that of Burns in the 100-yards dash. This is the last week of training.

Station Agent Nowell has gained communication with Peter Bennett, 251 Lincoln street, Lewiston, Me., the address given by Robert Dunn, the victim of the railroad accident at Newton, Saturday evening, and Mr. Bennett proves to be his stepfather. He promptly paid a brief visit to his son. It transpires that Dunn, who despite his name, is French, has an uncle in Exeter, and was on his way of visit him when the accident occurred. He left Lewiston last Thursday.

HAMPTON DEVELOPMENT

Latest Scheme Along the Coast of Rockingham County

The Hampton Improvement company, composed of some prominent property owners along the sea coast, are working on a matter of developing a great portion of land between what is known as the Hampton Line and Great Boars Head. The various owners of the property which lies between a point forty feet or more to one side of the highway and the seashore will establish certain claims through the courts and it is understood will later put the land into house lots under a lease of 99 years. This plan is something after the one developed that brought out that part of Hampton Beach where the Casino and other buildings are now located and which brought fame to this section of New Hampshire. Those who are interested in the move do not hesitate to say that it means a building boom in the vicinity named though it will take a little time to get the legal matters connected with the deal perfected.

NAVAL NOTES

The United States cruiser Mont gomery, in command of Commander Joseph Strauss, arrived at Newport on Monday from Pensacola, where for several years the Montgomery has been used as a torpedo experimental ship. She will be fitted for service with the Atlantic fleet, which she will join after sailing and taking on board a torpedo outfit.

The president has nominated James D. McNair of New York to be a chaplain in the navy.

The cadets of the Massachusetts nautical training school, 105 in number, reported for duty Monday morning on board the U. S. S. Ranger, in the afternoon the Ranger was towed out into the stream, and anchored off Rowe's wharf. At nine this morning she proceeded to Provincetown, on her ten days' preliminary cruise. The Ranger will return to Boston June 2 and on June 7 she will leave for her annual cruise.

The French battleship Banton is still on the ways, where she stuck Saturday at her launching. All of the efforts of the tugs to release the battleship have failed, and it will be a fortnight before the launch can be completed. The accident is attributed to the insufficient incline of the ways, and the sinking of the supports under the immense weight, which caused the hull to deviate from her course.

Work is being pushed on the three colliers building at the works of the Maryland Steel Company, at Sparrows Point, Md., for the navy, in order to have them completed and ready to turn over to the government officials within contract time. The collier Mars, the first of the fleet, was launched April 11 and the mechanics aboard her are working to get her completed early in the summer. The collier Vulcan, the second ship of the fleet, was launched last Saturday, and unless calculations go wrong the Vulcan will be ready to go into service during the summer. The collier Hector, the third of the fleet of coal carriers building for the navy at the Sparrows Point works, is rapidly approaching the stage where she can be placed in the water, and it is expected she will be ready to take her initial plunge about the middle of the coming month.

REVENUE CUTTER AT FIRE

Rockland, Me., May 25.—Twenty men with buckets, sent ashore from the revenue cutter Woodbury by Capt. Van Bosgerck Monday, fought and conquered a fire which burned the summer cottage of Knott C. Rankin of this city at Battery beach, on Owl's Head, and threatened to destroy four other cottages in the immediate vicinity, a large section of valuable woodland and the settlement on Owl's Head.

MRS. H. H. ROGERS ILL

New York, May 25.—Mrs. H. H. Rogers is in a state of collapse at her residence in this city, following her return from Fairhaven, Mass., where she attended the funeral of her husband, the Standard Oil multi-millionaire, Mrs. Rogers became so ill after the funeral that at first it was feared she would not be able to return here with her daughters, Mrs. Broughton and Mrs. Cox.

The date for the reading of Mr. Rogers' will depends entirely upon the condition of Mrs. Rogers. It was intended that this document should be read to the members of the family today.

Henry H. Rogers, Jr., it was said last night by a man very close to the family, will undoubtedly manage his father's great business interests. Mr. Rogers, after his first apoplectic stroke two years ago, devoted a great deal of his time to the training of his eldest son in his own business methods, so that the latter could take up the reins at any moment. Furthermore, Mr. Rogers had of late arranged his affairs that but little if any complication would result in the event of his sudden death.

Speculation is rife as to possible bequests in which the town of Fairhaven will have an interest. It is taken for granted that provision will be made for the high school, the last of Mr. Rogers' benefactions to the town and the only institution erected by him that is not provided for. Except for the high school, the library and the waterworks, the town is in possession of all his many gifts. The library has been cared for independently and the waterworks has been self-supporting. The Rogers school and town hall are maintained by the town, and there is no anticipation that Mr. Rogers intended making any further provision for them. What he has provided for the improvement of the streets has been given outright.

A reason given for the failure to endow the school is that such securities as Mr. Rogers wished to set aside for the purpose have been tied up by the building of the Virginian railway.

PRIZES FOR NAVAL COAL

One of the new departures in naval affairs to be inaugurated by Secretary Meyer will be a system of making coal economy and efficiency in steam engineering competitive with all the ships of the navy. Prizes will be awarded for the winning ship of each class designated at the end of each year, the navy department being confident that the next congress will meet the plan half way by making the necessary appropriation. The work of preparing this plan has been placed in the hands of Lieutenant Leigh C. Palmer, inspector of target practice and naval aid to President Taft. Plans for coal economy were first put into effect at Trinidad when the fleet touched at that port on its cruise around the world. Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, retired, then in command of the fleet, reported that the competitive tests inaugurated worked with great success.

BRITISH NAVAL PROGRAM.

London, May 24.—First Lord of the Admiralty McKenna has announced that the battleships to be built under this year's plans will be at least 20 per cent. superior to their immediate predecessors.

It was said they are to be superior but not wholly displaced, but at least two improvements are known. In the first place their 12-inch and 10-inch guns are to be capable of developing a muzzle velocity of 2,500 feet per second, while the battleships of the previous year developed only 2,000 feet per second.

Then all the 12-inch guns may be fired on either side. The deck erections have been reduced to the minimum. The two pairs of guns placed in the middle of the ship in barbettes on each wing, but arranged in echelon, can sweep through almost a complete circle and fire on the port or starboard side. The other three pairs of guns will be mounted in barbettes on the middle line, one barrette being forward and two aft. In one of the latter the guns will be carried at a high elevation.

This is deemed an improvement on the arrangement of the big guns on the new American ships. In the American ships the ten primary guns can be fired on either broadside, but all the guns being placed in the middle line the bow and stern fire is considerably reduced, there being no gun on the wing. Moreover, British experts consider that the American system makes it difficult to train all the guns at an acute angle to the fore and aft line of the ship.

The new British vessels, two of which are to be built in private yards and two by the government, are to be fitted with turbines to develop a speed of twenty-one knots.

LOST HIS GOAT

Alexander St. Germain of North Hampton lost his goat on Monday evening. He admitted the same to the police and further solicited their assistance to find the same. St. Germain's goat was tied in the back of his wagon for fear that some of the city fellows would steal it, and despite all these precautions they got it, or at least somebody did.

He showed up at the police station shortly after eleven o'clock and told his tale to Captain Marden. It appears that Germain drove into town to do some shopping and on the way purchased a goat to take out home. He did his shopping and tied the goat and his bundles in the back of his wagon and then paid a visit to Water street and while he was calling on friends he tied the outfit to a post. On his return the horse and wagon, as well as his bundles were there, but the goat had gone. Somebody had untied him and led him away. Up to the time of going to press the police had been unable to locate the goat and St. Germain started for his home without his goat.

PROF. BINGHAM RESIGNS PRINCIPALSHIP OF PINKERTON ACADEMY

To Be Succeeded by a Portsmouth Man

Prof. George W. Bingham, who for nearly a quarter of a century has been principal of Pinkerton academy of Derry, has tendered his resignation from that position and the trustee have accepted it. His successor will be Prof. Ernest L. Silver, for ten years superintendent of schools of Portsmouth, and he will take charge of the opening of the fall term in September. Prof. Silver graduated from Pinkerton in 1894 and from Dartmouth college in 1899.

Principal Bingham assumed charge of this academy in 1887 and achieved remarkable success. He has been much associated in public interests being on the executive committee of the international Sunday school work, officer in the state temperance agitation and engaged in various religious interests.

His resignation from Pinkerton academy is said to be due from advancing years and his health, which demands a change from such active labors as the academy demands. On June 15 the graduating exercises will take place, and Principal Bingham will have charge of the class day for the last time.

IRON ENOUGH FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS

Amoy, China, May 25.—There is renewed activity in the development of the Awtow iron mines, located 50 miles northwest of Tsientsin. Work on this enterprise has been suspended for the past 14 months, because of the exorbitant royalties demanded by the government, from 30 to 50 per cent., and as a result of the Japanese protest against the employment of other than Japanese engineers.

These difficulties now have been removed. British or American engineers are to be employed and the payment of royalties has been temporarily suspended. They may be later assessed at from 5 to 25 per cent. of the output.

An old report by an English expert says that the magnetic iron ore at these mines is 99 per cent. pure, and sufficient to supply the world for four centuries. The Awtow district is rich in coal, lead, limestone and other minerals, and the distance to tidewater is only 50 miles.

MUST SERVE HIS SENTENCE

Boston, May 25.—Cardenio P. King must serve his sentence of 10 to 14 years in state prison, the full bench of the supreme court having overruled his exceptions, which were taken at his trial, on an indictment accusing him in 31 counts of larceny.

The court decides against him on every question of law that was raised by his counsel, Ex-Atty-Gen. Parker, Jesse Gove and H. L. Baker, Asst. Dist. Atty. Dwyer, prosecuted the case for the commonwealth.

The principal contention of the defense was that the specifications filed by the government to the indictment set forth three separate and distinct offenses, namely, embezzlement, larceny by false pretence, and larceny.

The first question presented is whether there was any error of law in the action of the superior court in denying the defendant's motion that further specifications be furnished by the commonwealth, and that the specifications which upon his previous request had been already filed, should be expunged and discharged from the record.

The court says that it would be a sufficient answer to the claims of the defendant upon this question to say that he did not suffer by the refusal of the court to order further specifications or to expunge those which had been already filed.

CHART OF SOUTH ATLANTIC

Navy Department Has Prepared Latest Thing of This Kind

The hydrographic office of the United States navy, which stands in the front rank of the world's institutions in the collection and distribution of information regarding navigation, has issued a valuable pilot chart chart of the South Atlantic Ocean, covering meteorological conditions, all matters pertaining to navigation which are of a transitory nature, position of derelicts and other floating dangers, ice movements, storm tracks, direction and force of the wind and heights of barometers and thermometers as well as the ocean currents and the best sailing and steamer routes. This chart is the third of its kind, the others being for the North Atlantic Ocean and the North Pacific Ocean, and to be issued quarterly. A pilot chart of the great lakes is also being prepared.

CUT DOWN ARMY ESTIMATES

President Taft Issues Orders to Secretary Dickinson of the War Department

Washington, May 25.—President Taft has sent back to the war department the estimates submitted to him for the support of the military establishment in the fiscal year 1911, and indicated his desire that they should be cut out approximately $36,000,000.

The estimates were prepared while Secretary Dickinson was on a visit to Panama, and carefully scrutinized by acting secretary Oliver who reduced them to $171,659,000, $18,000,000 less than the estimate of 1910 but about $16,000,000 more than the appropriations for that year. When Mr. Taft saw the figures he expressed his wish that they be $29,000,000 less than the appropriations for 1910.

One Sick with Nervous Prostration Other With Stomach Trouble THE STRONG ENDORSEMENT OF SAGWA BY PORTLAND WOMEN

The sale of Kickapoo Sagwa and other Kickapoo Remedies in New England has been tremendous. Each day more and more people express their approval of the results obtained from this medicine.

The following letters were among many we have received from people living in Portland, Me.:

Mrs. Nellie E. Barter of 232 Forest Ave. writes: "It gives me great pleasure to write you that Kickapoo Sagwa has put me on my feet again. I have been sick for some time with severe stomach trouble, at times suffered faint spells, and all the time was very sick and had no ambition. The first dose of Sagwa made me feel better, and now after taking two bottles, I am feeling like a new woman and completely cured."

Mrs. M. E. Kneeland of 7 Farrington Pl. writes: "Will you kindly permit me to voluntarily offer you my testimonial of the virtues of Kickapoo Sagwa. I was very sick with Nervous Prostration, and for one year I suffered all the tortures of this disease, and although under the doctor's care, I continued to suffer and made no improvement until I commenced taking Sagwa. After taking four bottles I was completely cured and able to do all my household work and have not been afflicted since."

MAN WAS MURDERED

Whose Was the Body Found in Hinman's Pond at Hooksett

Hooksett, May 25.—That the unknown man whose body was found on Sunday in Hinman's pond, was murdered, was established at the autopsy on Monday by Dr. T. M. Toggus, the medical referee. A bullet wound in the head told how he had met death.

The man was about 60 years old, weighed about 200 pounds and was about six feet tall. He was dressed in a mixed black and grey coat, black vest and trousers, which bore the mark of "The Bress-System." His shoes were comparatively new and bore the firm name of "L. A. Abel & Co." The other mark in the shoes were "Beacon 33 Shoe." He wore a blue slip tie and standing collar, size 17. The hat, which was a soft black felt "Bellevue" with the trade mark of Besse-Eldridge, was found tucked into his trousers. He wore a white bosom shirt and cotton underwear.

An examination of his pockets showed a Boston and Maine rebate ticket punched from Manchester to Hooksett, Oct. 1, 1908, a pocket knife with two blades, and a russet leather pocketbook, which contained 65 cents.

The man's gums were smooth and showed signs that he had worn false teeth. The head was bald with the exception of a little hair at the back. The small bullet hole was found over the right temple, which ran in towards the right eye. There were evidences, too, of several blows upon the head with some blunt instrument. Conclusive proof of the fact that before entering the water was shown when the lungs were examined. There was no sign of water in them.

An ugly bruise was found on the right side over the liver and another on the right hip.

Another item of conclusive evidence that the case was of foul play was the heavy stone which was attached to the body. The stone had been chipped on four sides so that the rope would not slip. The rope was three-eighths-inch size and about twenty-five feet long.

Searching inquiry throughout all the surrounding towns shows that no persons answering the description of the man is missing, and it is generally thought in Hooksett that he came from Manchester.

Inquiry in Manchester reveals no clue.

SCHOOL FOR SHOEMAKERS

Proposal to Teach the Work to Youths of Massachusetts

Beverly, May 25.—Before the Beverly aldermen a hearing will be given Friday evening, on the petition of the Beverly commission on industrial education for the establishment of an industrial school.

The United Shoe Machinery company has offered to establish a practice school at its big factory on Elliott street, to equip this school to accommodate 25 boys, to provide an instructor, to furnish material at cost and to purchase the finished material at regular prices and in addition to this has offered to make up any deficiency that might occur between the running expenses of the school and the city income.

The plan as brought out by the commission of which George H. Vose is the chairman is for two classes of 25 boys each at the start. While one class is at the high school building the other class will be at the factory, the classes alternating weekly. The cost for the day industrial school is estimated at $1800 of which $1300 is for the salaries of instructors at the high school. For the evening industrial school the estimated cost is $1000, of which $600 is for the salaries at the school.

The investment of the United Shoe Machinery company in the practice shop is figured at $25,000. The project has been very favorably received by the state commission on industrial education, and it is thought that an effort will be made to introduce the Beverly plan into other cities.

The Beverly board of trade has endorsed the plan, and a committee has been named to appear at the hearing. Already there are nearly 30 applications from young men who would like to take a course in the training school. The boys will probably be paid at regular prices for the work they do, as in a measure they become self supporting.

NEW CLUBHOUSE

Newburyport, May 25.—It is stated on the best of authority that the Neighborhood club is negotiating for the purchase of the old Academy building at Moultonville for the purpose of fitting it up into a first class club house.

The building was used years ago for school purposes, but has not been occupied for a number of years. It is in a very bad condition and considerable money will have to be laid out on it.

The present club house on Merrimack street is so small to accommodate them. The club has been growing each month and they feel able to support better quarters. It is understood that if the place is taken a gymnasium will be built that will surpass any of its kind in the city.

INTERSTATE LIQUOR SHIPMENTS

Washington, May 25.—The wave of prohibition sweeping through the South was given a serious backward today when the supreme court decided that dry counties cannot be protected by state statutes. Any shipment of liquor coming from beyond the state boundaries must be delivered.

The court through Justice Brewer, decided in favor of the Adams Express Company, a suit brought by the state of Kentucky charging it with violating a law prohibiting railroads from delivering liquor to known inhabitants. Justice Harlan dissented.

Wholesale and wholesomeness of the native, said Justice Brewer in the opinion. "Gentlemen alone have power to regulate the state liquor transportation."

Liquor will be purchased at 25 cents a gallon, and delivered through New Albany, Ind., and delivered to the express company in a container at Louisville, Ky. When the company was sued under the liquor act, the law that the court said was not an interstate shipment but a local one.

The court was divided, and an appeal was denied by the same court on the ground that the suit in controversy did not exceed $500. The express company then sued out a writ of error, alleging that the court erred in admitting incompetent testimony that the consignment was an interstate shipment and maintained at the same time that the shipment was interstate in character.

FIVE NEARLY SUFFOCATED

In a Fire in Outer Boston Early This Morning

Boston, Mass., May 25.—Two women, two children and a man were saved from death early today by firemen, who carried them down ladders from their home on the third floor of the wooden tenement building at the corner of Greenwich street and Dorchester avenue, Dorchester.

The women and children were overcome by the smoke. The two latter were unconscious when firemen staggered through flame and smoke and found them lying in their bed in a rear room of the flame swept house.

The rescue was a most spectacular one. In carrying them to safety the firemen found the stairs blocked by fire and accordingly had to take them down ladders, which at times were enveloped in flame.

Three other tenants had narrow escapes. One was forced to jump from the second story to the street while another was forced to make his way down a waterspout. Still another staggered down the smoke-filled front stairways and fell unconscious into the arms of firemen.

The building was badly damaged. It is thought the loss will reach several thousand dollars. It is owned by Patrick Finnigan, who has a saloon on the first floor.

A North Hampton farmer named Alexander St. Germain, who was doing a stunt along the water front on Monday night, and who had purchased a goat among the several bargains of his day's shopping, was made glad today when his lost goatship was reported as found.

Germain had the buck tied up to his wagon and somebody separated him from his owner. After the police had made a search and were unable to locate the goat, "Nebuchadnezzar," Eugene McCue approaching his residence on State street, discovered his goatlets tied up to an iron fence crying a banshee. Gene quickly released the goat and for the rest of the night he camped with the horses in the stable.

The next time in St. Germain does any shopping and goes into the goat business he says nobody will "Get His Goat."
